Benefits of Collaborating with Perkins Community Programs

To assure and maintain high quality services, Community Programs/Educational Partnerships will also provide:

- Access to expertise in the specialized areas of the Expanded Core Curriculum for students with blindness and visual impairments, including those with additional disabilities and/or deafblindness. The Expanded Core Curriculum includes areas of assessment mandated in IDEA 2004, which addresses the unique needs of students with blindness, visual impairment, and deafblindness.
- Direct and consultative services from certified teachers of students with visual impairments (TVI), certified orientation and mobility specialists (COMS), teachers with specialization in deafblindness (TDB), and teachers with specialization in Assistive Technology (AT).
- Ongoing professional development provided to our staff to assure the highest qualifications to serve your students.
- Administrative and supervisory support to our teachers in the form of direct supervision, mentorship, employee benefits, secretarial services, access to braille and large print resources, training, technology support, and the opportunity to review curriculum materials before making purchases for students.
- Assistance and collaboration around administration of MCAS or MCAS/alt, district, and other psych-educational and developmental assessments.
- Access to in-service programs for your special educators, classroom teachers, parents and professionals.
- Access to the Perkins Assistive Device Center, which designs and builds specialized adaptive equipment.
- Access to additional Perkins resources, such as the Low Vision Clinic, the Perkins Training center, Outreach Services and the Braille and Talking Book Library.
